Autonomy, Accountability and Social Justice provides an account of recent developments in English state education with a particular focus on the academisation of schooling. It examines how head teachers, teachers and others working in diverse education settings navigate the current policy environment. The authors provide readers with insight into the complex decision-making processes that shape school responses to current educational agendas and examine the social justice implications of these responses. The book draws on Nancy Fraser's social justice framework and her theorising of neoliberalism to explore current tensions associated with moves towards both greater autonomy for and accountability of state schooling. These tensions are presented through four case studies that centre upon: 1. a group of local authority primary schools, 2. an academy chain, 3. a co-operative secondary school and 4. an alternative education setting. The book identifies the emancipatory possibilities of these approaches amid the complex demands of autonomy and accountability. Seizing English Schools, informed by a consideration of market parameters and social protectionist ideals, this examination provides rich insights into how English schools have emancipatory capacity. Autonomy, Accountability and Social Justice makes a major theoretical contribution to understandings of how the market is working alongside the regulation of schooling and the implications of this for social justice. By drawing on the experiences of those working in schools, it demonstrates that the tensions associated with autonomy and accountability within the current education policy environment can be both productive and unproductive for social justice.

knowing the cost of products is important if you don't know how much your item costs whatever it may be you are likely to be overcharged or under protected racial equality is very much like any product generally you get what you pay for assuming you are buying well made products from reputable and professional sources the more you pay the more you get the less you pay the less you get but everyone knows there are often wild exceptions to the general rule of getting what you pay for racial equality is no exception some low cost racial equality programs provide tremendous bang for the buck k 12 school integration affirmative action in higher education funding for anti discrimination enforcement and political equality in voting are just a few examples however by refusing to calculate the costs involved and choosing to pay little or nothing for racial equality the nation is defaulting to the highest cost options this is like trying to save money on transportation by not changing the oil in your car racial equality cost decisions are particularly problematic as the nation moves to being majority minority by mid century not knowing the costs for racial equality threatens american democracy
