it is in the conviction that the psalms belong both at the center of the life and worship of christian congregations and in the midst of the personal pilgrimage that each of us makes under the shadow of the almighty that i have written this book part 1 of the book is designed to help interpreters of the psalms find entree into them in various ways to hear their theological claims and to discern their point of contact with human life part 2 of this volume consists of ten expositions of psalms here many of the points made in part 1 are illustrated though not mechanically i hope or in a way that suggests there are certain moves one always makes to appropriate the communication of the psalms for preaching and teaching some annotated bibliographical suggestions are given at the end preface remarkably enough there is a scarcity of modern commentaries on the psalms for the more general reader though after the gospels they are probably the most widely read part of the bible no one is more qualified to write on the psalms than john eaton he is a distinguished old testament scholar and has spent a lifetime studying the psalms this commentary is addressed to the wide readership there is a long and highly readable introduction giving a background to the psalms then follow the 150 psalms each in eaton s translation he explains the background to the psalms and their content in a way that makes them interesting and relevant to the present the discussion of each psalm ends with a related christian prayer either from the tradition or written by eaton himself john eaton is recognized as one of the world s leading experts on psalms this commentary is the culmination of his life s work john eaton lectured in old testament at the university of birmingham until his retirement he is the author of many books especially on aspects of the psalms wise men throughout the generations have recognized the power of the psalms to get results from attracting love and wealth to overcoming adversaries to banishing the powers of evil yet these are not mere incantations to be repaeated with an empty heart pay heed to these words and follow their advice closely to those who trust in the lord and who faithfully hold his precepts great favours shall be granted
